Arab Approaches to Conflict Resolution: Mediation, Negotiation, and Settlement of Political Disputes

What have been the approaches of leaders and institutions to managing political conflict in Arab countries? Are these approaches distinct from non-Arab ones? Do they take into account women’s participation in peacemaking as a key factor to sustainable peace? These and other questions will be addressed by the authors.

Tuesday, September 16, 6:00 PM – 8:00 PM
LAU New York Headquarters & Academic Center
211 East 46th Street (between 2nd and 3rd Avenues) New York, NY 10017

Please RSVP by Friday, September 12 to jasmine.jaime@lau.edu or call (212)203-4333

Dr. Nahla Yassine-Hamdan is an adjunct professor of political science at Wayne State University. In addition to being an expert on Middle East Politics, she is a certified mediator and a board member of the Association for Conflict Resolution (ACR). She earned her MA in International Relations from the American University of Beirut and her PhD from Wayne State University.

Dr. Frederic S. Pearson is a Professor of Political Science and Director of the Center for Peace and Conflict Studies at Wayne State University. He is a recognized authority in the fields of international military intervention and ethnic conflict analysis. He has hosted conflict resolution delegations from across the world. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan.